All -vs- Every (Answers)

Both of these words basically mean 100% of something, but they are used a little differently.

All is generally used with plural nouns (2 pens, etc.) and with uncountable nouns
-All the books.All my money.Every is generally used with single nouns (1 pen, etc.)
-Everyday.Every person.

Write all or every in the spaces below to complete the sentences:

ex.) Our team won every game this season to win the championship.

- 1. All the tickets for the concert sold out in a few hours.
- 2. Every ticket for the concert sold out in a few hours.
- 3. It rained every day last week, so I spent all week at home.
- 4. Nearly all of the games kids play are too violent.
- 5. All of the people at the Halloween party had costumes on.
- 6. Every thing Amy buys is very expensive. She must be rich.
- 7. Someone ate all of my cookies from the refrigerator.
- 8. The typhoon damaged all of the boats in the harbor.
- 9. The heavy rain got every one at the picnic all wet.
- 10. I couldn't answer all the questions on the test.
- 11. I couldn't answer every question on the test.
- 12. I'm trying to get all of my Christmas shopping done soon.
- 13. Sue invited all of her friends to her wedding next year.
- 14. Almost every passenger on the ship became sick from the bad food, so they had to throw all the food away.
- 15. I sold almost all of my DVDs to make some extra money.
- 16. Ted spends every weekend hiking in the mountains.
- 17. Mick was full and couldn't eat all of the pizza.
- 18. All of my clothes were burned in the house fire.
- 19. When all of the students were panicking, every teacher stayed calm and got every one out of the building safely after the earthquake.
- 20. I spend almost all of my free time at the sports gym.