

Too, Too Much and Too Many (1)

Too is always followed by just an adjective.

Winters up north are too cold for me. I like warm weather.

Too much is generally followed by an uncountable noun.

Timmy spends too much time playing video games!

You can also: verb too much I ate too much and feel sick!

Too many is generally followed by a countable noun.

Bob made too many mistakes at work and was fired.

Please choose too, too much or too many for the blank spaces below:

1. Jimmy couldn't ride the roller coaster because he was _____ short.
2. Because there were _____ people in the elevator, it was _____ heavy and wouldn't move.
3. I'd like a new car, but they're just _____ expensive these days.
4. Amy spent _____ money on _____ jewelry and is now broke.
5. It's _____ dark to see anything! Turn on a light!
6. The company dumped _____ pollution for _____ years into the river, and now all the fish have died. That's just _____ sad.
7. It was _____ troublesome to repair my motorcycle, so I sold it.
8. The exam was way _____ difficult for the students to do. _____ of the questions were _____ confusing for them to answer.
9. It snowed _____ on Saturday and all trains were stopped for hours.
10. Eddie's _____ nice! _____ of his friends take advantage of him!
11. Rob's always complaining _____ about his wife. He says _____ horrible things about her.
12. The airline overbooked, so there were _____ passengers. This kind of thing is happening _____ times these days. It's so annoying.
13. The soup burned Matt's tongue because it was _____ hot.
14. TMI is an email expression for when someone has given us _____ information about something personal and we don't want to hear anymore.
15. There was _____ work to finish by 6:00, so I had to stay late.
16. _____ cars on the streets cause _____ traffic. The highways are always _____ crowded and it takes forever to get anywhere.
17. Bob, you have _____ stuff on your desk! There are _____ sheets of paper spread out everywhere. Clean it up.
18. I have _____ things to throw away before I move to my new apartment. I think I have _____ furniture for the living room and _____ pairs of shoes to fit in the closet, which is definitely _____ small.
19. Kimberly ate _____ food at the buffet and feels sick. She really ate _____ chocolate at the dessert table and that's probably why she feels so bad.
20. Rich people complain that they pay _____ in taxes, but _____ of them don't even pay as much as they should! There are just _____ loopholes that let them only pay a small percent of what they should.