

“Out” Phrasal Verbs Exercises (4) Answers

Fill in the blank spaces with the correct verb to complete the phrasal verb:
(Refer to the Out Phrasal Verbs 4 worksheet for phrasal verb meanings)
(be careful of correct tenses!!)

stand                      call                      go                      work                      knock

1. You and Miki are going out?!?! When did you first ask her out?
2. Zack works out at the gym twice a day, 6 days a week!
3. This movie really stands out as possibly the best movie this year!
4. If you need anything from the fridge, just knock yourself out!
5. He said they called out my name on the intercom, but I never heard it.

stress                      check                      grow                      storm                      take

1. Hey! Let's go check out that new Black Panther movie!
2. Long ago, men had to ask fathers if they could take out their daughters.
3. Tom is overweight, so he's stressed out about his health check-up results.
4. I don't remember when I grew out of playing with kids' toys.
5. The student stormed out of the classroom after failing the hard test.

fill                      make                      step                      eat                      make a big deal

1. It's so great to eat out, because you don't have to wash dishes after!
2. Beth made a big deal out of me dancing with another girl.
3. A teacher was fired for making out with a student in a closet.
4. It takes so long to fill out all the Japanese medical forms.
5. I quietly stepped out of the room when the couple began arguing.

make a big deal                      stress                      call                      stand                      fill

1. It is useless to stress out over things you can't control. Just relax.
2. My boss always makes a big deal out of every little mistake I make!
3. I had to fill out so many forms to get a U.S. visa.
4. Wait here and the doctor will call out your name when he's ready.
5. In general, Japanese people don't like to stand out from the crowd.