

COMMON MISTAKES (2 Answers)

Different -vs- Difference / In -vs- On / Danger -vs- Dangerous (adj) (n) (n) (adj)

Use different or difference in the spaces below:

1. American sushi is completely different from Japanese sushi.
2. The Avengers was sold out, so we ended up seeing a different movie.
3. Is there a difference between McDonald's and Burger King's hamburgers?
4. We tried 3 different kinds of headphones and couldn't tell if there was any difference between them.
5. Living in Tokyo is so different than I imagined. The difference between LA and Tokyo is so huge. The food is different. The people are different. The only difference that isn't a big surprise is the weather, which is completely different.
6. Just adding flowers to our office made a big difference. There is such a different atmosphere here with the flowers.

Use in or on in the spaces below:

1. America's Independence Day is on July 4th.
2. The Olympics will be in LA in 2028, with the opening ceremony in the evening on July 14th. I'll watch it on TV.
3. I accidentally got on the wrong bus, so I jumped off and got in a taxi, which dropped me off in front of your house on Friday.
4. Tom was born in France on a small Island.
5. Becky got on her motorcycle in her garage, put on her rain coat and rode out in the rain
6. I thought I'd put my phone on the counter, but it was in the fridge!

Use danger or dangerous in the spaces below:

1. It's so dangerous to use your smartphone while driving. Many people don't realize the danger of doing this.
2. Skydiving is a dangerous sport. There is a lot of danger in jumping out of a perfectly safe airplane.
3. Some parts of America are really dangerous, and some are safe.
4. "No Swimming!" There's a danger of alligators in this pond.
5. Many animal species are in danger of going extinct.
6. Don't run with scissors! It's incredibly dangerous!
7. John's operation went well, but he's still not out of danger.