

Not Anything (1)

I was busy and didn't eat ANYTHING. (1)

This expression is used to say that not any(thing, one, where, etc.) happened, was met, etc. when talking about something that occurred.

ex.) Bill turned on the TV, but didn't watch anything. (watch) ex.) There was a big fight, but the police didn't arrest anyone. (arrest)

Fill in the blanks with the correct didn't (verb) any(thing/where/one):

1. I went to the disco, but _____. (dance with)
2. We rented a car in Hawaii, but _____. (drive)
3. I stopped at a game center, but _____. (play)
4. Lisa checked Amazon, but she _____. (buy)
5. Because a typhoon was coming, I _____. (go)
6. It was Ed's birthday, but I _____. (give him)
7. At the countdown party, I _____ at midnight. (kiss)
8. I listened to the science speech, but _____.
(understand)
9. Jen and I went to karaoke, but she _____. (sing)
10. The hotel was all booked, so I _____ to stay.
(have)
11. Nancy has been invited to a wedding, but she _____ to wear. (have)
12. The election was last Tuesday, but I _____.
(vote for)
13. I went to the bar alone and _____.
(drink with)
14. Rob said he _____ from the shop. (steal)
15. I _____ when I moved to Japan. (know)

Not ANY (noun)

This part is for when you want to say you don't have any (noun)

ex.) I didn't have any friends when I moved to Japan. (have friends)

1. Alex _____ after he left Las Vegas. (have money)
2. I was so busy that I _____ all day today. (eat food)
3. Cal went fishing, but _____. (catch fish)
4. Ed is lazy and _____ with housework. (give help)
5. Rod fell down the stairs, but _____. (break bones)