

Sleep, Fall Asleep, Sleepy, Asleep (Answers)

Sleep: This is a verb (slept, slept), which means to not be awake
I'm so tired. I only slept 3 hours last night.

Fall asleep: This means the moment when you stop being awake or an unplanned sleeping (fell, fallen)
Judy fell asleep while taking a bath.

Asleep: This is an adjective for when you are not awake

Sleeping has almost the same meaning*

The earthquake hit while I was asleep (sleeping).

Sleepy: This is also an adjective for feeling that you need to sleep
I usually have

Fill in the blanks with the correct expression as in the examples:

ex.1) I can't believe Jennifer fell asleep while standing up!!

ex.2) Be quiet. The baby is still asleep/sleeping.

1. I fell asleep in my reclining chair while watching TV.
2. My wife makes me sleep on the sofa when we have a fight.
3. I'm so sleepy. I really need to go to bed before I fall asleep.
4. Bob is still asleep/sleeping in his room. Go wake him up.
5. The sleepy driver fell asleep while driving and crashed into another car. He should have stopped and gone to sleep!
6. Henry often falls asleep on the last train, misses his stop and then has to sleep on a park bench somewhere until morning.
7. Our teacher, Mrs. Clark, got angry because many of her students were asleep/sleeping during her class. Kids get really sleepy after lunch.
8. Kelly has an energy drink when she feels sleepy at work.
9. I took some sleeping pills and slept like a baby the whole flight.
Actually, I fell asleep the moment I sat down in my seat.
10. I took some sleeping pills and slept like a baby the whole flight.
Actually, I was asleep as soon as I sat down in my seat.
11. Carrie often falls asleep at her desk when studying for tests.
12. The "Do Not Disturb!" sign on the door means I'm asleep/sleeping, and don't wake me up! I plan to sleep all day!
13. I could sleep all morning on cold rainy days. Rain just makes me so sleepy.
14. The movie was so boring that I fell asleep after just 15 minutes!
15. I was asleep/sleeping when the phone rang and missed an important call.
16. I don't know how Tom can sleep through all the kids' noise!